About This Game

*Smooth Locomotion has just been implemented****

Front Defense: Heroes, the latest installment to Fantahorn Studio's arcade hit Front Defense, brings you more intense and fierce FPS action from World War II.

Prepare to immerse yourself in authentic battle environments and the use of 1940's-era weapons in this 5v5 online single and multiplayer VR shooter game set during World War II.

Designed and developed specifically for VR by Fantahorn Studio from the ground up, Front Defense: Heroes offers intuitive controls, sprawling battle maps, realistic vintage weapons and the opportunity to engage in realistic military operations.

Front Defense: Heroes allows you to play alone or team up with friends:

Solo - Join a match or fight alongside against AI bots.

Multiplayer - Form teams and fight against each other in epic battles supporting up to 5v5. Discuss tactics through real time voice chat and win through strategic teamwork.

Combat Modes:

Free-For-All: Players fight against each other by wiping out as many enemies as possible. There are no allies.
Team Deathmatch: Join or form your own team and win by killing enemies on the opposing team within the time limit.
Offense and Defense: The two sides take turns playing offense and defense. The offensive team needs to have tactics to destroy a designated target at full force while the defensive team needs to guard their base and fight-off their opponents.

However, you prefer smooth locomotion that is also an option in the game setting menu.

This game has had so much potential and I love how they keep releasing new content for it, but they need to address the major issue on why people just aren't playing it! I know for my own experience it's that the weapons feel weird to use. Compared to games like pavlov, onward, contractors, etc. Those games have great feeling when using a gun. It's way too clunky in this game for my liking. When I need to reload the gun back on a sniper and assault rifle it either doesn't do anything or it takes the mag out instead resulting in frustration. Another problem I have is when holding a gun with two hands that gun shakes and isn't as nearly as smooth as other fps games in the vr market. Also the fact you need to reload the gun back everytime you respawn is an annoyance even more as mentioned because sometimes it just doesn't recognize your hand. If the devs want me coming back to this game, I need these quality of live improvements. I am a huge ww2 fan and this game can be amazing if they continue to mess around with the core gameplay.. This game has fulfilled my dream of being US Marine landing on Omaha beach in VR. Has some flaws, but for its price, I can definitely recommend this one.

Here is some heroic footage from the beach)
